Description
Today (June 28) is Tau Day! to honor the true circle constant <math>\tau = 2 * \pi = 6.28</math> .
Michael Hartl ( https://tauday.com/tau-manifesto ) sent out an email today, to remind people that it's Tau Day, with the news that Python has now included the tau constant in its Math Module.
http://bugs.python.org/issue12345
Now we can't let Python have all the fun and beat Ruby!
Please include the tau constant in Ruby's Math Module, to show it's tautally cool too! :)
