Description

For some classes/modules, ri shows the same description twice. e.g.:

```
$ ruby -v
ruby 1.9.2dev (2010-04-03 trunk 27196) [i686-linux]
$ ri RDoc
= RDoc

The classes with this problem: Array, Hash, Time...
It seems like this only happens for the core classes, since I haven't found any of the gem-installed classes suffering from this.

Hi,

Sorry for late response, but I cannot reproduce.

Rdoc has changed a lot since the begin of April.
Could you delete old installation and try trunk again?

Eric, if you know anything about this issue, please answer to OP.

Hello,

It seems to be fixed for most of the classes.
Though Integer is still showing this symptom...

I removed files/directories under /usr/local/bin/
/usr/local/share/ri/1.9.1/system
/.ext
~/ri
~/ri1.9.1
before 'make && sudo make install'.

Thank you! Confirmed.

Eric, how about this patch?

Your patch will disable a feature of RDoc which allows comments from multiple classes to be combined into one.

I like this patch better, may I commit it?

Hi, Eric

Works for me. Please commit it!

And, Eric, please respond to #1085, #1800 and #2176 :-)
