

Ruby trunk - Bug #8006

Dir.glob behaves differently on 1.9.3 and 2.0

Description
<pre>=begin While testing an application of mine with Ruby 2.0 I came across the following problem with Dir.glob where the pattern FOO/BAR//* does not match the directory FOO/BAR anymore because the implicit directories '.' and '..' don't get matched anymore.  Used files:  $ find data/webgen/basic_website_template/ data/webgen/basic_website_template/ data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/init.rb data/webgen/basic_website_template/webgen.config data/webgen/basic_website_template/src data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.gitignore  With Ruby 1.9.3-p327:  1.9.3-p327 :001 &gt; Dir.glob('data/webgen/basic_website_template/', File::FNM_PATHNAME File::FNM_DOTMATCH File::FNM_CASEFOLD) =&gt; ["data/webgen/basic_website_template/.", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/.", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/..", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/init.rb", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/..", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/webgen.config", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/..", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.gitignore"] 1.9.3-p327 :003 &gt;  With Ruby 2.0.0-p0:  2.0.0-p0 :001 &gt; Dir.glob('data/webgen/basic_website_template/', File::FNM_PATHNAME File::FNM_DOTMATCH File::FNM_CASEFOLD) =&gt; ["data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/init.rb", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/webgen.config", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.gitignore"]  =end</pre>

After some more experimenting, it seems that the *** operator doesn't act the same like in 1.9.3:

With Ruby 2.0.0-p0:

2.0.0p0 :017 > Dir.glob('data/webgen/basic_website_template/*', File::FNM_DOTMATCH|File::FNM_CASEFOLD)
=> ["data/webgen/basic_website_template/./", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/./ext", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/./.",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/./webgen.config", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/./src", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/.",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/./", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/init.rb", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/./.",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/./passive_sources", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/./.",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/./bundle_template_files", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/./basic_website_template",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.gitignore"]
2.0.0p0 :018 > Dir.glob('data/webgen/basic_website_template//', File::FNM_DOTMATCH|File::FNM_CASEFOLD)
=> ["data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/ext/init.rb",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/webgen.config", "data/webgen/basic_website_template/src",
"data/webgen/basic_website_template/src/.gitignore"]

Hi,

r36903 seems related with this issue.

I'm not sure it is intentional change or not.

nakada san, what do you think?

#3 - 03/10/2013 08:14 PM - gettalong (Thomas Leitner)

=begin

For your information, I have fixed this problem in my code, see the (()).

Would be good, though, to know whether this is intentional or not.

Thanks!
